

NANCY WASTCOAT GARBETT, M.ED.

For the past 24 years, Nancy Garbett has worked with a wide range of corporations and individuals in planning, designing, and implementing effective change processes. Nancy consults and coaches in the areas of

- whole system change
- executive coaching and development
- leader and team development
- communication
- mediation
- strategy development.

Using principles based on the sciences of living systems, quantum theory, and energy dynamics, Nancy Garbett provides resources to leaders and leadership teams to re-establish alignment and integration of purpose with business objectives and daily operations. Nancy Garbett and her partners at Corporate Shaman Inc. believe that it is important to focus equally on profit, purpose and people, speed and service, growth and sustainability, efficiency and integrity.

From 2002-2009 Nancy held an adjunct faculty position for Westminster College, facilitating Master Track, a mentoring program for 2nd year students and alumni of the MBA program. In November 2013, Nancy completed 11 years on the Board of Directors for National College of Natural Medicine.

Nancy's educational background includes three years of pre-med studies, and an undergraduate degree in History from Lake Forest College in Illinois. In 1984 she received a MEd from BYU, and in 1986 she completed a six-month certification program in Clinical Pastoral Education. Related studies and certifications include: Master Practitioner in Neuro-Linguistic Programming; 18 years of in-depth involvement program in the field of energy dynamics; Birkman Assessment; Myers-Briggs Temperament Indicator; Compass Survey (360 Feedback) Executive and Leadership Coaching; Emotional Competency Indicator. Continued studies include quantum theory, energy healing, brain research, and systems thinking.

Prior to founding Transition Management Inc., Nancy worked as director of education and staff development for a long-term care center, as a hospital chaplain, and as a senior consultant in the outplacement business.
