Faculty of Medicine

The Faculty of Medicine of the University of Zurich invites applications for the following academic position (starting February 1st, 2022)

Professorship for Reconstructive Dentistry

as a result of the retirement of the current chair. The chair holder represents the subject in teaching and research. The position is connected with the lead of the Clinic for Reconstructive Dentistry.

The Clinic for Reconstructive Dentistry is highly regarded internationally and has distinguished itself for many years through excellent research and teaching as well as top-quality patient care.

As an applicant, you have successfully completed a habilitation or demonstrate habilitation-equivalent achievements. You have several years of clinical experience and an internationally highly recognized active research record in reconstructive (prosthetic/prosthodontic) dentistry and/or in related disciplines such as implantology and dental prosthetic-related material science. You are well integrated into international research networks and able to translate your research into new therapeutic procedures in cooperation with other researchers and institutions. A strong dedication to promotion of junior researchers, good organizational skills and a high level of resilience are required. You have an integrative personality and are able to successfully manage a large clinical department with several units.

The University of Zurich and the Center of Dental Medicine offer an ideal environment for interdisciplinary and translational research in the field of this position.

The University of Zurich is an equal opportunities employer and in particular strives to increase the percentage of women in leading positions. Therefore, qualified female researchers are encouraged to apply.
